

Technological Innovations Group announces new Regional Sales Manager for Oblong Industries Mezzanine™ Solution

Cobham, Surrey – 7th May 2019: Technological Innovations Group (TIG) has today announced the appointment of Andrew Rump to the position of Regional Sales Manager, UK & Ireland, effective immediately.

With over 20 years of industry experience Andrew joins TIG from Sony Professional Solutions where he was responsible for developing the companies corporate and education relationships as well as ensuring that exceptional customer service and customer satisfaction was provided.

TIG were appointed as the strategic sales partner for Oblong Industries flagship UC solution Mezzanine in Europe at ISE 2019. Andrew will work closely with TIG's Director of Sales, Steven Dullaert, and the rest of the Mezzanine sales team to boost the sales of Oblong's immersive collaborative solution.

Commenting on his appointment, Andrew said: "I am incredibly pleased and fortunate to be joining the TIG team at such an exciting time in the company history and being part of the future development. Working on providing AV solutions that not only improve business and workflow but provide next level WOW for clients across various markets is of course where AV should be, Oblong delivers exactly that. I am looking forward to engaging with new and existing clients as well as many new AV partners in delivering world class solutions".

Steven Dullaert, Director of Sales for TIG said: "We are extremely pleased to welcome Andrew to our TIG team, he is well-known and respected in the UK AV industry. He has a proven record of working with the most prestigious AV manufacturers and will be ensuring that our partners receive the best service and attention they deserve".
